The most important member of your Health care team is YOU.

Patients and families who play an active role in their care tend to have the best health outcomes. The best way you can play an active role is to ask questions. Make sure that you understand as much as you can about the surgery you will have. Staff are more than willing to give you the information you need.

This booklet will help you plan for your upcoming surgery.

Privacy

During your preoperative registration you will receive information regarding privacy legislation that outlines how we collect, use, disclose, retain and protect your personal health information. More detailed booklets are available in each area of the hospital if you would like more information.

If you are staying overnight, you will be given a privacy pamphlet with a four-digit number. You need to give this number to any family member that you wish staff to speak with about your condition. We recommend that you choose one family member to be the contact person for you. Our staff will not release information over the phone, unless the caller can provide this number.

For Patients who do NOT need to visit the Pre-Surgical Clinic:

If your surgeon wants you to have blood work or tests, you will need to have these done at a LifeLabs® lab. Please call 1-877-849-3637 to book your test. Or book online at: www.lifelabs.com .

Tests and blood work should be done between 7 and 28 days before the date of your surgery. Please tell the lab the name of the hospital and the date of your surgery.

If you live outside of the Kitchener-Waterloo area, please have the lab fax the blood test results to 519-749-6888.

A nurse may call you at home. The nurse will review your health history and give you more information about your surgery. Be sure to ask any questions that you have at that time.

For Patients visiting the Pre-Surgical Clinic:

Your surgeon's office will tell you if you need to visit the Pre-Surgical Clinic. (It will be checked "Yes" on the front of this booklet.)

After Your Surgery

Pain Control

Using pain medicine around the clock will help you to recover faster. As you get better, you can begin to go longer between doses of medicine if your pain is controlled. Let your surgeon or nurse know if you feel your pain is not controlled well.

You will be asked to rate your pain on a scale between 0-10.

Pain medicine can be given many different ways. You may be given pain medicine by needle, pill, or suppository. Some patients will have medicine delivered by a machine through a tube into a vein (IV) or an epidural. Some patients get a nerve block during surgery that continues to block pain after surgery. Your surgeon or anesthesiologist will choose the medicine and approach that is best for you.

Exercises to do after your Surgery

Deep Breathing and Coughing

Deep breathing helps to re-expand your lungs after surgery. This can help to prevent breathing problems like pneumonia.

Try to do these exercises 4 or 5 times every hour, while you are awake. You can do these less often as you become more active.

- Place your hands on your abdomen. Allow your abdomen to expand under your hands as you breathe in deeply through your nose.
- If you have an incision in your abdomen, support it with your hands or use a pillow.
- Hold the breath for 1 or 2 seconds.
- Breathe out completely through your mouth as if gently blowing out a candle.
- Coughing helps remove excess mucous from the lungs. If you have excess mucous, you should give one strong cough as you breathe out after each deep breath.

Leg Exercises

It's important to keep the blood flowing in your legs after surgery. Leg exercises can help prevent blood clots from forming.

Do leg exercises 4 or 5 times every 30 minutes, while you are in bed.

Here are some you can try:

- Extend your legs until they are lying flat out on the bed.
- Wiggle your toes.
- Bend your foot upwards and back at the ankle. Then point your toes, bending your foot at the ankle down towards the end of the bed. Repeat this several times with both feet.

- Circle your foot at the ankles to the right and to the left. Repeat this several times with both feet.

For Patients going home from Day Surgery

- You will need to arrange for a responsible adult (i.e. a friend or family member) to drive you home after your surgery AND to stay with you overnight.
- Plan for your driver to pick you up 2-4 hours after your surgery time. There is a phone at the bedside that you can use to call for your ride as you get closer to the time when you will go home.
- You will not be able to leave until your driver reports to the nursing station. Your surgery will be cancelled if these arrangements have not been made.

If you are sent home later in the evening:

- There are local drugstores that are open until midnight. Your nurse can help you find one of these locations, so you can fill your prescription.

If your health care team decides that you need to stay longer to recover, you may be kept in hospital overnight. You may be sent home as early as 6:00 a.m. the next day.

Before going home, your nurse will:

- Assess your condition and make sure you are safe to go home.
- Review how to care for yourself at home.
- You may experience some pain and/or nausea after you go home. This can be treated with medicine. Ask your surgeon or nurse if you have questions about this.

For Patients Admitted to Hospital

You will be cared for in hospital until you are well enough to go home. Your health care team will review your progress each day and let you know which day you will be going home.

The nurse will review each day how to care for your self at home.

You may experience some pain or nausea after you go home. You may be given a prescription for pain medicine that will help you control your discomfort. Ask your surgeon or nurse if you have any questions about this.

Someone must be available to pick you up by 9:00 a.m. on the day you are going home.

Recovering at Home

Your recovery period will continue at home. Please consider the following:

- Arrange for family and child care needs before you go home.
- You may have lifting restrictions. This may change what you are able to do to care for yourself.
- You will need extra rest at home.
- It is not unusual to be sent home with stitches, staples or drains (tubes) in place. Arrangements will be made to have them removed after you go home.
